

Cyber Security Awareness training

Empower your employees to protect your company's key assets

As threats develop and become more complex, even the best security tools cannot detect all malicious software and techniques. A well-built email with company logo, professional language and a seemingly harmless link could be a hackers attempt to try to get inside of your company's IT-infrastructure. All it takes is one employee to click on the link and activate the attack.

We cannot prevent a human mind from being curious or convinced of the legitimacy of a message, but we can train it into more caution when presented with common security threats.

That's why VENZO cyber security has developed Cyber Security Awareness training to improve security awareness among your employees.

Our service will provide you with trained security advisors who will train your organization to understand what a threat is(phishing emails, ransomware), identity control and the mind of a cyber criminal – by using targeted campaigns, training tools and providing assessment to management.

Our Cyber Security Awareness Training combines campaigns with training and assessments into the Yearly Wheel

Key Benefits

Create security awareness
Teach common language & trigger good security practice among your employees.

Train your employees to understand the mind of a hacker and their approach.

Heighten security awareness to build better protection of key assets.

Help mitigate one of the highest security risks
Security awareness can help you mitigate one of the highest security risks – which is people behavior.

Gain visibility of how to improve your current security measures.

- Get insight in mind of a hacker.
- Learn about current threats like phishing and CEO fraud.
- Benefit from best password practices.
- Get a practicable walkthrough on secure internet behavior.
- And more activities, tailored to your organization's needs.

“Technology and good processes can do a lot to prevent security breaches. But people are still our last line of defense.”